I've heard zygo surgery is a lot aesthetically riskier than most other forms, was it worth it for you OP?

You were lucky.

It was completely unnecesery risk.

Holy shit.

Max the shit out of your money, health, knowledge and NT behavior. You had more than enough looks for human race...

wtf did you do that? You looked fine before. Decent eye area, no noticeable bags or odd grooves and hollows.

It's an implant so it's removable in case I don't like the aesthetic results

Give some details op!

Cheek implants, custom made? which part of the malar region did you have it placed.

How much did it cost, where you have it?

It looks great.

It's combined infraorbital-malar-zygomatic arch

And to whoever said I didn't need it, that before picture doesn't show it well but I had flat zygos and pretty bad under eye hollows
